National Tennis Rating Program (NTRP) Level Information

NTRP Level	Description
1.0	Just starting to play tennis
1.5	Has limited experience with stroke development and is still working primarily on getting the ball into play. Not yet ready to compete.
2.0	Needs on-court experience with emphasis on play. Struggles to find appropriate contact point. Needs stroke development/lessons and is not yet familiar with basic positions for singles and doubles play.
2.5	Learning to judge where the ball is going when receiving, although movement and recovery are not in sync. Can Sustain a rally of slow pace with other players of similar ability and is beginning to develop strokes. This player is becoming more familiar with the basic positions for singles and doubles. This player is ready to play social matches, leagues and low-level tournaments.
3.0	Fairly consistent when hitting medium-paced shots, but is not comfortable with all strokes and lacks execution when trying for directional control, depth, pace or altering distance of shots. Most common doubles formation is one up and one back.
3.5	Has achieved improved stroke dependability with directional control on moderate shots, but still lacks depth, variety, and the ability to alter distance of shots. Effective use of lobs, overheads, approach shots, and volleys is limited due to a lack of confidence. More comfortable at the net, has improved court awareness, and is developing teamwork in doubles. Potential limitations or strengths: The level at which it begins to be about what skills a player can display on court, not what they can't.
4.0	Has dependable strokes, including directional control, depth and ability to alter distance of shots on both forehand and backhand sides during moderately paced play, plus the ability to use lobs, overheads, approach shots, and volleys with more success. This player occasionally forces errors when serving. Rallies may be lost due to impatience. Teamwork in doubles is evident. Potential strengths: Less likely to beat themselves; more dependable second serve; recognizes opportunities to finish points.
4.5	Has begun to vary the use of pace and spins, has good movement, can control distance and depth of shots, and is beginning to develop game plans according to strengths and weaknesses. Can hit the first serve with power and accuracy and can place the second serve. Tends to over-hit on difficult shots. Aggressive net play is common in doubles. Potential strengths: Points are won and lost off the serve more often; better able to cover weaknesses; beginning to develop a weapon.
5.0	Has good shot anticipation and frequently has an outstanding shot or attribute around which their game can be structured. Has confidence to regularly hit winners or force errors off of short balls and can put away volleys, can successfully execute lobs, drop shots, half volleys, overheads, and has good depth and spin on most second serves. Potential strengths: Better decision making; covers and disguises weaknesses well; mentally tougher, but can still break down in stress situations.
5.5	Has developed pace and/or consistency as a major weapon. Can vary strategies and styles of play in a competitive situation and hit dependable shots in a stress situation. Potential strengths: Can hit offensively at any time; can vary strategies and styles of play in competitive situations; first and second serves can be weapons.
6.0	Has obtained a sectional and/or national ranking. Typically has had intensive training for national or top level collegiate competition.
6.5—7.0	World-class players with extensive satellite and/or international tournament experience. Makes living from tournament prize money.
