NEW BUSINESSES, HOUSING AND STADIUMS COMING TO BLOOMINGTON

By Mayor Tim Busse

Bloomington continues to grow with new housing options and major investments in school facilities. From affordable senior living to upgraded athletic stadiums, these projects reflect the City’s commitment to community, accessibility and quality of life.

Colonial Market opened on October 16 in South Loop, bringing a hybrid American-Latino supermarket that blends traditional American grocery staples with authentic Latin American foods, baked goods and restaurant offerings along with a liquor store.

The Rosalyn, a 128-unit senior apartment community at American Boulevard West and Lyndale Avenue South, is nearing completion. The project includes units at various affordability levels and ground-level retail.

Ever Apartments, located at 6701 W. 78th St., is also nearing completion with 208 new units, including 19 affordable units and a pad for an approved 11,000-square-foot freestanding daycare to be constructed in the future.

Bloomington Public Schools recently completed new stadiums at Jefferson and Kennedy high schools, replacing the shared Bloomington Stadium. Each campus now features turf fields, seating for 2,500, new lighting, sound systems and concession areas, giving both schools a dedicated home field for the first time. Dedication ceremonies were held in October, following first games in September.

The stadium projects were supported by $400,000 in community donations and a $400,000 grant from the Minnesota Vikings and NFL Foundation.

BLOOMINGTON VOTER TURNOUT REMAINS STRONG

Bloomington voters elected three City Council members in the 2025 municipal election. Dwayne Lowman was reelected to represent Council District 1. Shawn Nelson was reelected to represent Council District 2. And Danielle Robertson was elected to an at-large seat for her first term on the City Council. They were sworn in on January 5.

Voter turnout was 27.8%, with 16,477 of Bloomington’s 59,306 registered voters casting ballots. Of those, 3,500 voted absentee, including 2,322 who voted early in person at Civic Plaza.

City Clerk Jamy Hanson expressed gratitude to the many people who made the election possible.

“Bloomington’s elections rely on teamwork across every department,” Hanson said. “Thank you to our election judges, staff and community members who helped ensure a smooth and secure election process.”

CITY COUNCIL APPROVED 2026 PROPERTY TAX LEVY AND BUDGET

On December 15, the City Council approved Bloomington’s 2026 property tax levy and general fund budget with a 6.96% levy increase. The approved levy is 2.48% lower than the City’s preliminary proposal of a 9.44% increase and below the average preliminary 2026 levy increase for Minnesota cities of 8.7%. ### NEW PARKING RAMP ORDINANCE TAKES EFFECT

In December, after a year of public input and discussions, the City Council approved a new parking ramp licensing ordinance aimed at improving public safety and infrastructure maintenance.

Beginning in 2026, parking ramps more than five years old will need to undergo regular monitoring and meet licensing standards.

Well-maintained ramps are essential for safe and reliable vehicle storage. This ordinance supports:

Safety. Routine inspections help prevent structural failures, which make ramps safer for users.

Maintenance awareness. Licensing encourages property owners to stay on top of repairs and meet State Building Code standards.

Data collection. Information gathered will guide future infrastructure planning.

If you have questions or want more information, contact Building Official Bernadette Gillespie at bgillespie@BloomingtonMN.gov or 952-563-4709.

WHAT IS ACCEPTED AT THE CURB

WHAT IS NOT ACCEPTED AT THE CURB

PREVENT FROZEN PIPES

Extended periods of colder temperatures can cause water meters and indoor water pipes to freeze. To help prevent this, keep your heating system on and allow warm air to circulate around the pipes and water meter by opening any doors or panels where they are located. Water meters can be found indoors where the water enters your home, which is usually in the laundry room or near the furnace.

If additional warmth is needed, consider using a space heater in rooms where pipes may be at risk (never leave heat sources unattended), and for extra protection, wrap exposed water pipes with foam insulation.

If you plan to be away from home for an extended period, contact Bloomington Utilities to request that your water service be turned off at the street. A $50 fee applies for both the shut-off and the reconnection services. For more information, visit the City’s website or call Bloomington Utilities at 952-563-8777.

CURBSIDE CLEANUP COMING IN APRIL

Curbside Cleanup is offered every other year, occurring only in even-numbered years, which means it’ll be back in 2026. The program allows residents to dispose of certain large or hard-to-manage items that are not accepted through regular trash pickup.

On their assigned Saturday, participants may place a limited quantity of appliances and bulky trash at the curb for collection. More details about which items are accepted, and which are not, will also be included in the March Briefing.

NEW IN 2026: BUNDLED BRUSH NO LONGER ACCEPTED.

For questions about Curbside Cleanup, visit blm.mn/curbside or call 952-563-8760.

To learn how to dispose of items not accepted at the curb, visit the Green Disposal Guide on Hennepin County at blm.mn/green-dispose or call 612-348-3777.

Aarin recently earned her Master of Public Health in maternal and child health with a minor in Public Policy. Her studies explored how public health policy and partnerships can strengthen breastfeeding support and equitable care.

“I’m passionate about helping families,” Aarin said. “Public health is about meeting people where they are and making sure every parent has what they need to give their child a healthy start.”

Aarin also serves as a food advisor in the Minnesota National Guard, where she ensures service members have access to safe food and water.

NEW MURAL WELCOMES VISITORS TO BIG FROM FROZEN PONDS TO STATE-OF-THE-ART RINKS

Visitors to the Bloomington Ice Garden, 3600 W. 98th St., have a colorful new reason to stop by. A striking 90-foot mural by Minnesota artist Adam Turman was installed on October 28, transforming the main entrance into a celebration of ice skating. The mural traces skating and hockey from frozen ponds and backyard rinks to today’s state-of-the-art ice arenas. Blending realistic imagery with abstract, it captures the motion, excitement and community spirit that have defined Bloomington’s skating history. “When I submitted my bid, I knew right away this was a project I wanted to do,” said Turman. “The Ice Garden has such a rich legacy, and I wanted the mural to feel alive, like the action on the rinks.” Eagle-eyed visitors will also find a few hidden gems tucked within the design, such as a smiley face in the roaring crowd and the elegant grooves left by figure skaters. Stop by the Bloomington Ice Garden to experience the mural up close and celebrate generations of community pride.

Bloomington Parks and Recreation invites residents to participate in the seventh annual medallion hunt. A hockey-puck-sized medallion will be hidden in one of Bloomington's 97 parks and it's up to you to find it.

Starting January 13, two new clues will be released each week on Tuesdays and Fridays, with the hunt continuing until February 13 or until the medallion is found. Follow the clues at blm.mn/winterfete or on the Bloomington Parks and Recreation Facebook page at facebook.com/blm.mn.parks for a chance to win a prize package!

A FRESH LOOK FOR POLICE VEHICLES

Bloomington Police Department squad cars are getting a fresh new look that reflects both tradition and pride in service.

Officers voted on the final vehicle wrap design in September 2025. The new look features a sleek black and metallic silver color scheme that blends a modern style with the classic black-and-white patrol you’ve seen on the road.

“The design reflects the professionalism and pride our officers bring to the job every day,” said Chief Booker Hodges.

Vehicles will receive the new graphics gradually as part of the department’s regular fleet maintenance cycle. So far, eight squads have been updated, with most of the fleet expected to transition by fall 2026.

JOIN THE BLOOMINGTON POLICE RESERVE UNIT

Looking for a meaningful way to give back? The Bloomington Police Reserve Unit offers residents a hands-on opportunity to support public safety while gaining valuable experience.

Reserve officers are volunteers from all walks of life. Some want to explore law enforcement careers; others are simply dedicated to serving their community. They assist with non-criminal police functions such as traffic and crowd control at events, business and park checks, and respond to emergencies or community callouts.

Reserve officers typically work a couple evening shifts each month and attend monthly meetings for ongoing training. New members complete an in-house Reserve Academy covering patrol tactics, first responder skills, defensive tactics and more. Uniforms and equipment are provided at no cost.

Applicants must be at least 20 years old, hold a valid driver’s license, have a clean record and commit to about 10 volunteer hours per month.

Applications are accepted year round. Download an application at blm.mn/police-programs and submit your form via email to BPDReserves@BloomingtonMN.gov or deliver it to the Bloomington Police Department, 1800 W. Old Shakopee Road.

POLICE JOIN SAVE TO LAUNCH LOSS TEAM TO SUPPORT FAMILIES AFTER SUICIDE

The Bloomington Police Department has teamed up with Suicide Awareness Voices of Education (SAVE) to bring Minnesota’s first Local Outreach to Suicide Survivors (LOSS) team to the community.

The LOSS team provides immediate, compassionate support to individuals and families who have lost a loved one to suicide. When called by Bloomington Police, trained volunteers, many of whom are suicide loss survivors themselves, respond to the scene to offer comfort, connection and guidance to local mental health and grief resources.

“The Bloomington Police Department wants to ensure those who need help receive it quickly and with care,” said Outreach and Engagement Coordinator Katie Zerull. “This program allows us to walk alongside survivors as they navigate the loss of a loved one.”

BPD’s LOSS team, launched last fall, and SAVE are still recruiting and training volunteers. To learn more or volunteer, email save@save.org.

MEET A FIREFIGHTER: CAPTAIN CHAD BAUER FROM UTILITIES TO THE FIRE LINE

Captain Chad Bauer’s path to the Bloomington Fire Department was unique and built on dedication and heart. After 20 years with the Bloomington Utilities as a senior utility operator, Chad made a bold move. He became a firefighter to give back to the community he calls home.

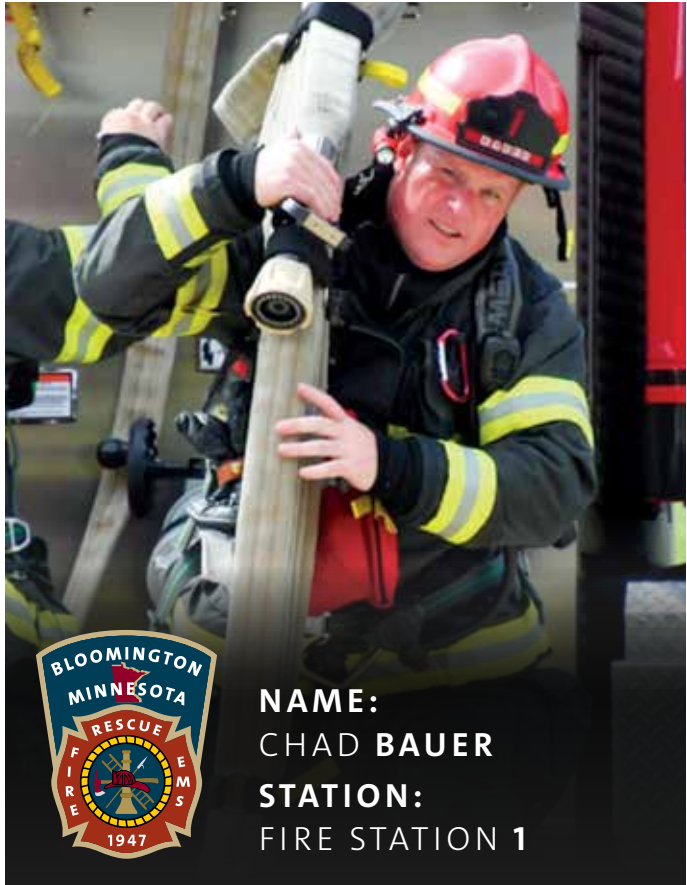

Since joining BFD in 2013, Chad has steadily climbed the ranks, from part-time firefighter to full-time captain at Station 1. Along the way, he’s leaned on the support of his wife Leah and their three kids, Emmett, Clara and Fritz, as well as his close-knit team at the station.

What keeps him going? “It’s a fun and rewarding career, full of great people,” Chad said.

When he’s not on duty, you’ll find Chad outdoors with his family, camping, boating, fishing or cheering at local sporting events.
